PROTESTANT / EPISCOPAL CAMPUS MINISTRY

Sponsored by the Episcopal Diocese of Massachusetts

EPISCOPAL CAMPUS MINISTRY @ UMASS DARTMOUTH Fall 2023

WHO WE ARE

The Episcopal Campus Ministry is open to all Protestant students, faculty and staff on campus and to anyone else who is seeking to be part of a spiritual community regardless of former or current faith tradition or spiritual affiliation. We have a particular outreach to those who have no current or previous church affiliation and to those who are seeking deeper purpose and meaning in life. You do not need to have a prior connection to the Episcopal Church to be part of our community.

We are an inclusive, open-minded, and progressive Christian community on the UMass Dartmouth campus. We seek to follow Jesus in his way of love and justice through weekly worship, spirituality programs and small group gatherings. Our Campus Ministry is made up of those who are seeking to grow in their personal faith journey and who want to make a difference in the world by helping others in the name of Jesus. Our commitment to social justice provides a connection to community service projects in the community.

In addition to our Campus Ministry Group scheduled meetings, we also provide a listening and supportive presence by offering pastoral care for anyone on campus.

A COMMITMENT TO INCLUSION

The Episcopal Campus Ministry stands for the inclusion of all people and extends a radical welcome to the LGBTQ+ community. All are welcome regardless of self-image, life-story, sexual orientation or gender identity. We invite you to celebrate the fullness of who you are as a beloved child of God.

On the feast of Sukkot, many Jews build a sukkah, which is a small hut. Jews live, eat and sometimes even sleep in the booth during Sukkot, commemorating the time the Israelites spent in the wild — in huts of their own — after being freed from slavery in Egypt. Sukkot celebrates the miracle of faith, a miracle of a people who, despite all that they lacked, despite never knowing what the next day would bring, nor where they would be the next day, had faith. This is symbolized by a sukkah - not a perfect structure, but an imperfect one.

BETTER TOGETHER

Better Together is a national movement on college campuses to build bridges across people of all and no faith traditions through shared values and service. Corsairs, if you're interested in building interfaith community through education, conversation, and participation, connect with Better Together UMASS D by emailing flucca@umassd.edu—we'd love to have your help doing great things this coming year!

Join the Movement!

Finding common ground for the sake of tending to humanity is not only a far more effective approach in service, but also the necessary endeavor if we expect peace and successful service to be a realistic goal.

Though we are diverse in belief and thought, we share common values and can accomplish so much more over sharing these values instead of outlining differences. Indeed, we are better together.

Interested in joining the Better Together Club? Contact Deacon Frank, Center for Religious and Spiritual Life, at flucca@umassd.edu. We will hold a meeting in a few weeks so let us know if you are interested!

RELIGIOUS STUDIES DEPARTMENT

Pre-Theology, pre-seminary advising track

The Director of the Religious Studies Program, affiliate faculty in the College of Arts and Science (namely philosophy, history, and art history), and the Center for Religious and Spiritual Life are working together to construct an advising track for students interested in pursuing graduate work in theology or ecclesiastical history, both at a liberal arts institution or seminary, and/or a clerical career. This will not result in a BA or minor; it is only meant to act as guidance for those students who wish to explore this life path. More info will be forthcoming once the track passes the final approval by the Provost.
